One reason for iDalko's success is the emphasis on ultra-strict security protocols. Exalate can be deployed within a company's own environment making it possible to share and exchange data with other entities—without requiring multiple logins or giving external parties access.

Streamlining work management allows collaborating companies (and/or departments or subsidiaries) to save time and reduce costs. One notable advantage Exalate offers is the possibility to make a single change that can ripple across multiple systems.

iDalko's SaaS integration software Exalate helped boost the company's growth and almost tripled sales last year.

> "Integration tools are obviously not new. But Exalate is unique in its ability to perform inter-company synchronization with an exceptional degree of security and user autonomy."

> "Companies are constantly adapting to the changing world. Technology must evolve quickly while at the same time, organizations must be able to collaborate seamlessly. Our integration software helps build intercompany networks that are quick to implement and easy to join."
> Francis Martens, iDalko co-founder and CEO

> "By producing a whole chain of suppliers and subcontractors, companies can further enhance customer experience. Complaints and support tickets, for example, no longer have to be handed off from one company to another. Exalate can ensure that each company's workflow is synchronized, documents are updated in real time, and that the customer status stays up-to-date."
